DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

What a great experience!
Working with a creative,
funny, young, talented and attractive group of artists, writers, actors, painters and singers is a joy.

I should have had to pay for the privilege of directing. Thanks to all the people who contributed to the show.

Special kudos to Malcolm Ellis - writer, producer, cameraman, and editor who produced all the video and a truly wonderful cast who bring it all to life. To the love of my life Mary Anne who's handling all the tech on stage and never gave up on the music and a special shout out to our baby Heather who is enjoying her stage debut!

THE PLAYERS

Abbey Le Cornu

Abbey is a recovering exhibitionist. Although in therapy she still gets random urges to flaunt her red satin under-attire. She gets distracted by shiny objects.

Andrea Knox

Andrea is an undercover spy on a secret mission to extrapolate vital covert information on sight gag comedians. Her future husband is Shaggy.

Brad Watts

Brad describes himself as stunningly handsome, a ladies-man and the most brilliant person you will ever meet. His most proud characteristic is his humility.

Dan Morisseau

Dan likes working with rubber cement and Jiffy markers in unventilated areas. He doesn't know he's in the show yet, please don't tell him!

Gabrielle Wheaton

Gabrielle loves to rehearse for a show, then contract a serious illness so that Mike McLaughlin is "forced" to wear a dress.

Heather Kosa

Heather found her niche baking muffins, growing cane and manicuring animals. She likes eating broccoli and chewing gum at the same time.

Jacoline Frank

Jacoline really doesn't enjoy theatre, but is fulfilling her legal community service requirements. She swears her story about alien abduction is true.

Malcolm Ellis

Malcolm can juggle yogurt while driving, eats live chickens for breakfast and recently had his tongue stretched. His life goal is comedy for the poor.

Michael McLaughlin

Michael is a trained male bovine manure distributor and spends his spare time commuting to perform in Vegas. His favorite color is glass.

Michelle Morgan

Michelle is a knapsack model whose back appeared in a 1997 Vogue. She dreams of comfortable high heels. Oh, and world peace.

Peter Kosa

Pete "Knapsack" Kosa, amateur body double for Chaz Bono dance routines. Has only two items left on his bucket list. This is one.

Sue Howe

Sue is famous for figure skating in the Ice Capades show "Rice on Ice". She enjoys spending time with people she doesn't know, and playing miniature harmonicas.
